

Public Hearing on East Sierra Madre Blvd. Trailer Court July 25th

TWO FINE NEW SUBDIVISIONS
ON ORANGE GROVE

Indications that Sierra Madre is to have two new high grade subdivisions in the near future on Orange Grove, east of Baldwin, were indicated when approval was granted at a meeting of the Planning Commission for two dead-end streets. One extends eastward from Baldwin, located approximately 300 feet north of Orange Grove.

The other is for a street north from Orange Grove, opposite Oak Meadow road in Arcadia, on the 17 acres owned by Ralph M. and Mrs. Alice Jones, 161 E. Alegria. It is understood that Donald K. Kelley, 206 N. Auburn, plans to purchase half the 17 acres and subdivide the property.

A public hearing was set for July 25 in the Council room, on the granting of a variance to Warren O. Preston, Jr., 478 W. Montecito, for a Trailer Court on the two acres on Sierra Madre Blvd., between the cemetery and the pumping plant. The land is owned by M. J. Meisenheimer, 100 Auburn Ave. Mr. Preston proposes to lease the ground for a period of three years, Saturday afternoon, he plans to have a high grade court, endeavoring to get Sierra Madre residents as far as possible, to relieve the housing shortage.

Plans are being made for between 25 and 30 trailers, all owned by occupants, each on individual plots, with water and electricity and all modern conveniences generally found in a first class court.

FINAL RITES AT FOREST LAWN WEDNESDAY

Sierra Madre lost another of its refined citizens in the death of William V. King who passed away Saturday morning at the residence, 375 E. Grandview.

Mr. and Mrs. King came to our city five years ago from Arlington, Virginia, where Mr. King had served for many years, Mr. and Mrs. King, natives of Texas, were residents of Washington, D. C., for thirty years during the time that Mr. King served the government as Chief Accountant of the Federal Water Power Commission.

Mrs. C. A. Pierce, their daughter and only child, flew from Fort Riley, Kan., Saturday afternoon. She with General Pierce and their daughter Joan visited the Kings two weeks ago when General and Mrs. Pierce came West to attend the graduation of Miss Joan at Berkeley.

The final rites were held Wednesday morning, 11:00 o'clock at Forest Lawn.

TRIPLE FS HAD
SPECIAL PATROL
OUT FOR 4th

At the last meeting of the Forest Fire Fighters Service, plans for additional patrol and fire protection on the mountain areas over the Fourth and during the month of July were made and a series of meetings for practical instruction arranged.

Secretary Norman B. Jensen is sending notices to 70 members, past and present, that there will be a breakfast at 7 o'clock Sunday morning at Chantry Flats when they will receive instructions from Ranger Tom Henderson, Leslie McCloud of the Santa Anita station and Gordon Garrett, stationed in Santa Anita Canyon above the dam. The men will also work to complete the fire trail around the public camp at Chantry Flats.

Plans call for a similar field meeting on Sunday, July 21, and every alternate Sunday during the danger season.

FRIDAY EVENING MEETINGS

A series of Friday evening meetings is now scheduled, the first this week at the American Legion Dug Out at the City Hall, with blackboard instruction by Ranger Tom Henderson, Arthur M. Udell co-ordinator, who was able to be present and preside at the last meeting, says about 40 members will receive this training and it is hoped many more will become associated with the organization.

SPECIAL FOURTH DUTY

The Triple FS maintained special patrol on the Fourth, co-operating with the U. S. Forest Service, along the Mt. Wilson trail to Quarter-Way House, at Santa Anita station and patrolling all areas as far as possible to prevent the outbreak of forest fires, always a menace on Sundays and holidays especially when thousands take to the mountain country.

Fireworks were sold in Arcadia this year, adding to the burden of the patrols. Such fireworks were taken from people entering the mountain areas, and returned to them when they emerged.

SIREN SIGNAL

Five blasts on the city siren will be the official Triple FS emergency signal and will be used in case of fire in the foothill area. Members will respond, dressed for fire duty at the city hall where they will be given instructions and

For exceptional service in developing amphibious small craft, Commander Herman Barter, USN (Ret.), was presented the Legion of Merit medal by Rear Admiral L. J. Wilste, USN, Commandant of the U. S. Naval Base, Terminal Island. Commander Barter resides at 675 Orange drive and was in the amphibious section, fleet maintenance division, Office of the Chief of Naval Operations and was charged with the development of the amphibious small craft and LVT programs when he performed the services for which he was decorated.

WHY DON'T THEY STOP IN SIERRA MADRE?

The Editor is not a bulb snatcher but he did snatch this from the Fireflames, it was too apropos not to enrage upon.

As more people come to Sierra Madre, there is actually a traffic problem. Evidently drivers think it is a "little town" and they have a privilege of being careless on traffic regulations. The stop signals seem to have lost their meaning. Yesterday we were crossing Baldwin from Robert's Market and a newcomer to Sierra Madre had paused at the street stop and

Hotel Dining Under New Management

Mr. and Mrs. M. Vasilich have taken over the Sierra Madre Dining room and after redecoration will be open to the public Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Vasilich are known by many local people as formerly of the Verdugo Woodlands Cafe in Glendale. The dining room will be open from 11 to 8 p.m. closing Mondays.

David Buchan Home From Naval Service

David Robert Buchan, MM 3/C, lost no time Saturday in arriving at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Buchan, 130 E. Montecito, having received his discharge from the Navy at Terminal Island that morning. He was in the service 21 months, spending a year of sea duty on the auxiliary steel mine sweeper G-20. He was a charter member of the crew, being assigned to the G-20 when it was commissioned and also on board when it was de-commissioned at Orange, Tex., recently.

David was an engineer yeoman and saw service in local waters, from Portland, Ore., to Panama, through the canal and thence to New Orleans and Orange. He plans to return to Pasadena Junior college to complete his education.

Eaton Park Has Budget for $85,000

During the coming fiscal year Los Angeles County will continue its Eaton Canyon Park program by acquiring privately owned land for the development of the 775 acre area north and west of Sierra Madre.

The sum of $85,000 has been placed in the new budget for additional land acquisitions in areas subject to possible subdivision. The county auditor this week approved a warrant for the cash payment of $87,000 for the 28 acres acquired last Tuesday by the supervisors from R. L. Welborn, C. S. Wennersten and Truman E. Perry.

Applications for Supt. Considered

At the annual meeting of the School Board Monday evening, E. Waldo Ward was elected president for a second term and Mrs. Henrietta G. Hinkley was re-elected clerk. Mrs. Hinkley was appointed chairman of the Teachers' committee, to act with the Board. Clarence Hunsinger was appointed as neither Mr. Hinkley nor Mrs. Hinkley were re-elected. About 25 applications for the position of Superintendent to succeed Mr. Kowalski were considered and those whose qualifications seem best for the position here will be interviewed Friday.

Applications for the position of cafeteria assistants will also be received. Mrs. Fuller Zlatnik or Mrs. Lewis McClelland, who have served in that capacity the past three years, will return next year.

Summer school for remedial work started Monday, with a large enrollment, over 45.

KIWANIS HEARD NEEDS OF SCHOOL ELECTION TUESDAY ALSO ADDRESS BY NATIONAL SPEAKER V. EKDAHL

Kiwanis heard Tuesday from Mr. Blair and McCoom of Pasadena on the coming School District Election to be held July 9. The gentlemen presented the need of the additional funds for maintenance of schools with the rising costs of operation. Increased teachers salaries, wages and the like, Mr. McCoom is assistant superintendent of the Pasadena Schools. He stated that the attendance at PJC for the coming year will be 7000 of which 1500 of the students will be a group of veterans, the largest group in any educational institute in the world.

Next Tuesday evening Kiwanis and their ladies will meet in the school cafeteria for a joint dinner meeting with the local Lions and their ladies.

An invitation was urged on all Kiwanis to be at the Youth Hut Sunday as the roofing paper is ready and also those interested in laying out plans for the grounds should be on hand between 11 and 12 to lend advice.

The speaker of the day, Victor Ek Dahl was reported to be one of the most inspirational, dynamic speakers ever to have addressed the club. Mr. Ek Dahl was for 38 years sales manager of Swift and Company of Chicago.

Guests for the day included Alfred Langley and J. Frank Long of Monrovia, Win Lougherton, Harry Smith and Bud Wilbur of Altadena.

OPPOSE BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT IN HASTINGS RANCH

Objections were filed by owners of some of the fine homes in Rancho Santa Anita, Inc., in Arcadia, to the proposed development of Hastings Ranch, when the matter of establishing a zoning ordinance for the area, which was recently annexed to Arcadia, came before the Planning Commission of that city.

Donald Hamblin appeared, representing the protesters, stated that the objections are to the proposed motel and other commercial uses of property on the Hastings Ranch. He stated that all of the homes in the Rancho cost $25,000 or more and they are opposed to any commercial encroachment.

Freiz Burns and Fred Marlowe, representing the firm developing the property, outlined the proposed plans for a small business area at Foothill Blvd. and Rosemead to serve the residential area in the tract. They stated that the type of construction would be high class in every respect, and compared the proposed development to that of Westwood and explained the reasons for the Rancho residents as well as those of Hastings Ranch.

A MESSAGE TO SIERRA MADRE

The free competitive market upon which the American economy was built has been re-established overnight.

The sudden and unexpected release of all governmental controls, at a time when some parts of the economy are out of balance due to a long period of wartime controls, does not of itself restore that balance. The proven productive capacity of this country can and will successfully meet this challenge if given a little time.

It is during this period that a great responsibility rests upon the shoulders of American business. If business and labor stay on the job, maintaining and increasing production and distribution without unfair increases in prices and costs, then our free economy will be re-established on a sound basis in a surprisingly short time and without any great hardships.

Fair pricing and assurance to the public that no short-sighted advantage will be taken of the current situation will help build a safe bridge from price control to effective competition. Such a successful transition will confirm the preference of the American people for a free competitive economy over any system of governmental control.

Let American business men evidence sound and patriotic leadership in maintaining the general stability of our price structure in this important transition period.

Young Sierra Madre All Out For Swimming

The local Red Cross Chapter struck a chord that seemed to vibrate with perfect intensity when they offered the Swimming Safety Program at the Canyon Plunge with Bill Murphy as instructor.

To date 96 beginners have registered for the morning classes. 39 advanced swimmers are included in the registry, 25 Junior Life Saving and 11 Senior Life Saving. The response which has been way beyond any anticipation has caused the Red Cross to take over everyday Monday through Saturday from 9 to 12 and evenings Monday and Wednesdays 7 to 9.

RECREATION COMMISSION PREPARES ANNUAL BUDGET

At a meeting of the Recreation Commission held last evening the annual budget for the recreation program from July 1, 1946 to July 1, 1947, was set up and will be presented to the Council for the approval of that body. The possibility of making minor changes in the summer program was also discussed. The dances are proving very successful and the Tuesday and Thursday evening Park programs are well attended.

"THE TRAVELING CARNIVAL"

"The Traveling Carnival," a painting by Alfred Dewey, perhaps the town's best-known artist, has just been purchased by the Bank of Sierra Madre to hang in their building along with the other Dewey paintings now there.

Coincidentally, the Carnival depicted in the painting was held in the vacant lot just east of Safeway Market on Sierra Madre Blvd., which lot has been purchased by the Bank as site for its future building, though Mr. Lewis, president of the bank, states that the coincidence of location was not the determining factor in the purchase of the picture.

It seems of special significance that such a fine painting of a Sierra Madre locale has found a resting place in its own city, and in a place where it may be viewed by the citizens. Opinion has been expressed commending the Bank on the selection, and voicing the hope that this is but the first step in the community's preserving all such worthy records of local interest.

In a special interview with the News, the artist, Mr. Dewey, explained that the picture was painted at night in March, 1940, from the roof of Milton (now Mayor) Steinberger's Filling Station at 115 West Sierra Madre Boulevard, just across from where the Carnival was set up March 19-23. This Carnival was the last one held in the city. The painting of it is on a canvas 40" by 48", depicting the colorful illumination against the night sky background and giving an immediate feeling of the movement of light and people.

"I think it's perhaps one of the best things I've done," Mr. Dewey said. "I've had a lot of favorable comment on it by artists, and it is a great satisfaction to me to know that it will eventually hang in the new Bank building which will be located on the exact spot where the Carnival took place."

Mr. Dewey (it is difficult not to speak of him as Alfred; one feels so at home with him immediately) has a keen memory of the occasion of this particular painting. "It was some ladder job," he said, almost out of breath at the very memory. "I started to paint from the ground, but discovered that to get the best results a subject of this particular painting should be done from a spot high above the street level. Shorty Steinberger's filling station offered the ideal spot. Besides, he had flood lights high above the place to paint. Shorty was willing to lend his lights and his roof, but had no ladder."

"In the midst of my ladderless dilemma one of those ingenious Sierra Madrans that always happens along at just the psychological moment suggested that the Fire Department would have a long enough ladder. Obtaining permission to take such an article

Nordstrum-Hartneg Assume Official Place in Lions Club

M. O. Nordstrum was named new secretary of the Lions club at the regular board meeting held Monday evening at the home of the president, Capt. E. G. Everett. He succeeds Thomas R. Durning who resigned a portion of his Lions responsibility. Mr. Durning continues to serve as treasurer. In the place of John C. Loomis of the board of directors, Raymond P. Hartneg was named to the chair resigned by Mr. Loomis on account of ill health.

The joint meeting with Kiwanis at the school cafeteria, July 1, which is also ladies night will be the next important club event.

City Leads Valley in Bldg. Gains

The San Gabriel Valley cities show big increases in building activities for the first six months period over 1945 but the effect of government restrictions is evident as valuations failed to reach amounts reported prior to the advent of restrictions this spring. Out of seven cities reporting, Sierra Madre led in June valuations as compared to May, with Monrovia, second. Sierra Madre shows $72,428 in June and $41,938 in May.

NEW UNIFORMS ON WAY

The Sierra Madre Athletic club lost to Alhambra American Legion team last Sunday and tied Arcadia Monday. Next Saturday they will play Post 13 at Tournament Park.

The boys say they will be seen in their new uniforms the week of the 20th.

Considerable interest is developing in the $3,000,000 bond issue on which Sierra Madre will vote next Tuesday, as a part of the Pasadena School District.

This is a very important issue, affecting the educational future of our city and every citizen should exercise his voting rights. Sierra Madre is vitally interested in the election, due to the fact that students of this city use Pasadena high school and Junior college facilities.

The plans call for the purchase of a site for a new Junior High at the northwest corner of the south half of the Hastings Ranch, at the corner of Michilinda and Sierra Madre Blvd., south of the P. E. tracks.

Three propositions will be on the ballot, including:

1. Raise the tax rate from $1.10 to $1.25 on each $100 of assessed valuation to provide for rising costs of operation, increased teachers' salaries, wages, etc.
2. Issue bonds in the sum of $1,000,000 in the High School district to finance a 10-year building program for new junior high buildings in La Canada, Temple City, etc.
3. Issue $1,200,000 in bonds for additional buildings and facilities for Pasadena Junior College and John Muir Junior College.

The Election Board wishes the NEWS to announce that it will be a great help in locating the names if all persons will ascertain the number of the precinct in which they live before going to the polls.

There will be only one polling place, at the main entrance of the school, on Highland, and the polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Miss Elizabeth Steinberger will be inspector of the election, Mrs. W. R. Smythe and Mrs. Eva Moore, judges.

Local Pound Cleaned and Fumigated

The city dog pound has been cleaned and fumigated, palms put over the runways and a shed for shade and the next project will be the asking for the installation of a drip faucet for the canine inmates. The dogs have suffered for lack of water as they trip over their dishes which may not be replenished for hours.

The board meeting of the California Federation for Children and Animal Protection was held Friday evening in the room assigned to the Superintendent of Humane Education in the City Hall, located across from the Police Office.

Lions Club President Brings Rich Background

Captain E. G. Everett, the new President of the Sierra Madre Lions club, brings to the club a wealth of experience, having been Past Commander of the United Spanish War Veterans in Washington, Past Commander of the local Post of Veterans of the Foreign Wars, Vice-President at two different times of the local Kiwanis club as well as official Greeter for many years. He was Chairman of the Local Boy Scout Organization which position he induced Herbert Hoover, Jr., to accept when the Captain and Mrs. Everett went to Florida for six months. He also is active in the Congressional church, being treasurer at the present time. He is treasurer in the Sierra Madre Garden club. He has been Chaplain of the Lindbergh Camp, USWV, for the past two years.

Captain Everett began his military career in 1895. He was brigaded with Gen. Arthur MacArthur in the taking of the City of Manila, August 13, 1898, and later participated in the Philippine Insurrection. He was in the Mexican Campaign in 1916; also in World War II.

Captain Everett retired in 1926. He came to Sierra Madre in 1933, so he is not a newcomer to our midst, but many newcomers do not know of his former local activities.

Sierra Aside By TOMMY NEWSOM

Noises are news. Our abode is tucked together on the side of a senior foothill and the air up there is so pregnant with town and vicinity noises we could publish a Daily by just listening to the goings-on.

June 21st slipped by and I heard scarcely a comment on summer's official debut. But the fact that it is here has reached my ears in more telling ways. The days are alive with the cheerful chatter of all children at play — vivacious reminder that books are closed and the outdoors are open. The sounds of laughter and squealing and splashing that travel up from the Plunge fairly sketch a picture of the swimming and water antics once more in season. I might even hazard a guess at the water's temperature from some of the shivering squeals. The buzzing motors of the humbees and the blue bottles are familiar reminders of the lazy days approaching. Perhaps it is because my windows are open earlier and longer, but the hens' cluckings seem to have idled to a Texas drawl as warm weather sets in, and the birds seem to hold more outdoor chirp fests and chase flurries. One little fellow rattling around in the nearby yuccas, apparently for seed, made me aware that these "Arrows of Flame" having hit their mark of full glory during the last spring days are now on the inevitable wane. The busy sounds of hammering and sawing here and there in the hills, though not particularly a summer item relate the pleasant news that at least a few fortunate souls managed to ferret out lumber for a spot of homework. And had I not seen or felt the morning misty veil that June departed in, my ears might have surmised the matter: for the valley trains seemed literally to chug and moan through our front yard, so close were the sounds through the morning fogs.

School is over, but not forgotten. Sierra Madrans will be called on Tuesday to vote in the special election by the Pasadena School District by virtue of the fact that our city is part of this district, our junior high and high school students having to commute to Pasadena Junior College for their high school education. The facts of the election are bond issues of $3,000,000 for financing new junior high schools needed in this vicinity and for increasing facilities and buildings at Pasadena Junior College and John Muir College; also a proposition to raise tax rates from $1.00 to $1.25 on each $100 assessed valuation to provide for rising costs of school operation, increased teachers' salaries, wages, etc. Included in the bond issues are plans for the purchase of a site at the Hastings Ranch for a junior high school, which would largely benefit Sierra Madre.

A high school nearer Sierra Madre is certainly needed, for the lengthy daily trek to Pasadena by our town's teenagers is an item that could beneficially be dispensed with. Thoughtful parents surely realize that the quality of a teacher is ultimately, if not immediately reflected in the quality of his students, and whatever can be done to raise teaching salaries to the adequate level they should be for maintaining the finest calibre of teachers, should be done. Vote for your youth, Sierra Madre, July 9th.

BALLING BABY TALK

By MAXINE BALLING

WE NEVER DREAMED, when we opened the Balling Baby Shop, that we would be selling HORSES. . . but here they are! "Frisky" is just about the cutest rocking horse you ever saw. His body is bright red, with red leather seat and bright wooley mane and tail. He has a cocky look in his eye. . . and he's causing us a lot of trouble, for every youngster makes for him, and kicks and screams when Mother tries to take him off. That makes it easy to sell "Frisky" horses, and frankly, we'll be glad when they're all sold, for we're worrying about our glass show cases. "Frisky" is $19.95.

Horse of another color is "Husky," who is white, a little larger than "Frisky," and a little more of the Santa Anita type. "Husky" also has a lot of personality, and if your youngster sees him, you're a goner for $19.95 on the nose.

If you're going to take a baby on your vacation trip this summer, you'll find some real useful things at the Balling Baby Shop. For instance, there's an auto hammock that hooks on the back of the front seat, and you can lift it off and take it into the motor court with baby still asleep in it. ($3.50). If little Desdemona is old enough to sit up, you might want an "Auto Eye" seat which has a piece that fits under the seat cushion. (Also $3.50).

There are lots of other things at the Balling Baby Shop you might want to look over before going away. . . such as disposable diapers. . . diaper bags. . . and flat plastic "Toidy" seats that you just "hook over." If you have everything you need, well, we just wish you a perfectly wonderful vacation. And when you return, please read this little column once in a while, for it is ADVERTISING that is supposed to induce you to come in to the Balling Baby Shop. . . which is located at 401 1/2 South Myrtle, in Monrovia. (If you should need anything badly while you're up there in the Sierras, drop us a card and we'll mail it to you. . . that is, things for baby).

The Frog TALKS about ROBERTS MARKET and Things

"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands: one Nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

WHAT A MARVELOUS PRIVILEGE IT IS to live under a flag as democratic as that of the United States of America! And with liberty and justice for ALL! When the doors are closed at night and the boys and girls go home and leave me here alone, I start philosophizing; and it sometimes occurs to me that to appreciate what we have in these United States, we should go into other countries and live with people as their people really live. I feel privileged to talk because, you know, I came into existence in one of our sister Republics south of the border; and down there I was called "la Rana Verde."

PROBABLY YOU HAVE HEARD IT SAID before, but I do not hesitate to say it now, this excerpt from the First Amendment to our Constitution is among the most important of statements ever made to a literate people:

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press; or of the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances. . . .
"The right of the citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude."

YOUR MORE OR LESS ILLITERATE FROG reads in these lines the idea on which the builders of the U.N.O. have founded their dream of a working international democracy.

NOW AS TO MY DEPARTMENT (and strictly speaking, that is fruits and vegetables), as I sit here among the crisp carrots, which are best shoe-strung in salads; and the tender beets, which should be pickled for the 4th-of-July picnic; there are many other things to talk about, such as Watermelons (ice-cold if you wish), Cantaloupes (vine-ripened and guaranteed), Persian Melons (ditto), berries, cherries, plums, apricots, peaches (four luscious varieties), nectarines, grapes, and—OH! YES! the fresh vegetables: local sweet Golden Corn; fancy, tender, green Asparagus, stringless Green Beans; full-pod Lima Beans; bright-yellow Wax Beans; sweet, northern Green Peas; bright, tempting Summer, Yellow and Zucchini Squash; green onions, radishes, romaine, endive, water cress, celery and the best Tomatoes you have seen in many a moon! ALSO those big, sweet Red Onions which are so good served in a sandwich or used, chopped up, to make the picnic potato salad all that it should be!

NOW HERE COMES CURLY TO TELL ME to remind you that his department (Groceries, of course) has a large variety of fancy cheeses, good olives, and fairly-good pickles to add to your picnic or patio-supper meal! Despite the apparent demise of OPA, there will be little, if any increase in price on any of the many desirable items I am plugging in this alleged ad. Canned Tomatoes, and of fancy quality, will be available to all of you this week-end, as well as that hard-to-get item T-U-N-A!

AS TO THE MEAT DEPARTMENT, all I can learn is that there will be no more than the usual meager supply for a week or so. The cost to us is likely to be a good deal more than it has been, but LES assures me that he will keep his prices down to the breaking-even point until production equals demand—and after that, he expects to be able to sell you all the meat you want at less than you have bought it for under the OPA system. I hope he is right!

YOU KNOW, I HEAR THE DARNDDEST THINGS as I sit here drowsing among the carrots! The other day my sharp, little ears picked up this tid-bit: An imaginative 16-year-old youngster, name Jerry Willis of Bogalusa, Louisiana, thinks he knows how to direct a symphony of bull frogs by means of a flash-light. Near Jerry's home is a pond hugely populated by frogs. Jerry has discovered that by turning his flash-light upon a frog it will be induced to sing. He says there are frogs of all voices: first tenor, second tenor, coloratura soprano, bass and so forth. All he has to do is throw his light on the right one and he can arrange a frog-produced musical symphony. Now frogs are frogs, in my opinion, and while he might be able to single me out (because of my outstanding terra cotta composition), I strongly resent the idea of anyone thinking all he has to do in order to make me sing is to turn a light on me. Furthermore, I doubt if he would be able to consistently identify my friends as to vocal ability in any pond, let alone one well-populated!

HOWEVER, JERRY STRIKES ONE HONEST note. He admits that he has not yet been able to get his frog orchestra to sing a complete composition (and this I believe), but he strikes a sour note when he affirms that he has managed to draw from them the first sixteen bars of America, which I do NOT believe!

SINCE I AM AN HONEST SORT OF GUY, I must admit that we frogs are somewhat unusual and that the foregoing story is no more unusual than that of my cousin in Salome, Arizona, who lived more or less happily for 20 years and never even saw water!

BY REQUEST OF POP, AND OVER my own veto, this comes up again:

What a wonderful bird the frog are—
When he stands he sit almost;
When he hop he fly almost.
He ain't got no sense hardly.
He ain't got no tail hardly, either.
When he sit, he sit on what he ain't got, almost!

SO YOU SEE WHERE I STAND, ALMOST—
Sometimes hopping but always popping!

DANGER OF RABIES IN MOUNTAIN AREAS

Rabies in wild animals in surrounding mountain areas has caused a warning to be issued to dog owners planning camp vacations by C. O. Harvey, chief communicable disease inspector for the Los Angeles county health department.

In a letter to the U. S. Forest Ranger officials on Santa Anita Drive, Harvey said that in view of rabies in the wild life in the mountainous areas of Los Angeles county, permittees be advised not to take their dogs into the area.

Positive analysis of rabies in a captured raccoon and suspicion of rabies in a fox caused this action, the inspector said. Forest rangers have notified campers in national parks that those dogs already with their camper-owners must be on leash.

ATTENDS LIONS CLUB MEETING MEXICO CITY

M. E. Hinton, whom the local Lions club call their roving member, spent a pleasant interlude in Mexico City last week when he utilized his stop over time en route to the Panama in visiting the Mexico City Lions club. It turned out to be a most interesting afternoon as members and wives were dedicating a new hospital sponsored by the club for crippled children. Mr. Hinton was greatly impressed with his cordial reception and the generous activity of the Mexican club.

HINTS FOR HOMEMAKERS

HOW TO COOK FROZEN VEGETABLES

By the HOMEMAKING SPECIALISTS
of the General Electric Consumers Institute

Most homemakers are profiting from the newest time-saver in food preparation, the frozen product, which may be purchased in commercially frozen form, or taken from one's own stock of home frozen foods.

Regardless of the type of frozen vegetable you wish to prepare for the table, remember that frozen foods are easy to cook, but require different handling from fresh foods.

The staff members of the General Electric Consumers Institute have had considerable experience in testing the correct methods, not only of freezing foods, but of cooking them for best results.

"Quick-Cook" Vegetables

During the preparation for freezing, vegetables are blanched in boiling water or steamed for a few minutes, which means they are partially cooked yet they are not cooked nearly as long as during the canning process. So it is necessary to "quick-cook" them before serving. Frozen vegetables are packed either in solid bricks or loosely in the containers. In cooking both types, the object is to bring the product to the boiling point as rapidly as possible in order to preserve vitamins, flavor and color.

Corn-On-The-Cob

It is NOT necessary to thaw frozen vegetables before cooking. But there is an exception—corn on the cob. It should always be thawed, otherwise the corn will be overcooked before the heat has fully penetrated the center of the cob.

Cooking Method

Here's a simple cooking method for frozen vegetables and a timing chart that saves time and prevents the loss of flavor and vitamins:

1. Place the vegetables in a pan with a small amount of water (for electric ranges 1/4 cup is sufficient).
2. Turn switch to high heat.
3. When steaming vigorously (about five minutes) break up vegetable with a fork to hasten complete thawing and cooking.
4. Count cooking time when vegetable starts steaming vigorously again.
5. Turn switch to low and finish steaming.

Steaming Time For Cooking Vegetables

Tested in the G-E Consumers Institute

ASPARAGUS	5 to 8 min.
GREEN BEANS	12 to 15 min.
WAX BEANS	12 to 15 min.
BROCCOLI	5 to 7 min.
BEETS—young, whole	18 to 20 min.
BEETS—cooked and sliced before freezing	Heat to temperature for serving.
BEEF GREENS	10 to 12 min.
CARROTS	5 to 10 min.
SWEET CORN—cut from cob	3 to 4 min.
SWEET CORN—on the cob	3 to 4 min.
KALE	20 to 25 min.
KOHLRABI	8 to 10 min.
MUSHROOMS — (Do not cook in water, but saute)
MUSTARD GREENS	12 to 15 min.
PEAS	6 to 8 min.
RHUBARB	10 to 12 min.
SPINACH	4 to 6 min.
TURNIPS	12 to 15 min.
SQUASH—summer	10 to 12 min.
SQUASH—winter	Heat to proper temperature for serving.
SWISS CHARD	8 to 10 min.
TURNIP GREENS	15 to 20 min.
LIMA BEANS	16 to 20 min.

If more than one package of a product is to be cooked at one time, use a large enough kettle so that one package is not placed on another. For example, a large skillet with a tight fitting cover is better than a deeper kettle of smaller diameter.

The over-all cooking time of solid-pack frozen vegetables may be shortened about 5 minutes (or length of time required for them to thaw after being placed on range to cook) if the unopened cartons are allowed to stand at room temperature for an hour or so.

WE ARE PLEDGED TO HOLD THE LINE!

The following merchants of Sierra Madre recognize and accept the responsibility placed upon them by the expiration of the OPA.

As a group we address this message to our buying public:

We realize that during a short period of readjustment perhaps there will be advances in the cost of critical items to you and to us.

We also believe that this change will soon result in a buyer's market instead of a seller's market, and that when basic price structures are sufficient to encourage full production, then competition and the law of supply and demand will force prices down.

We pledge ourselves to keep our prices at a normal operating level; and that advances will be taken only if costs to us increase.

We shall continue to adhere to our policy of dependable service and quality merchandise.

Going Underground?

Is Britain going underground as a means of protection in case a third world war should occur? Well, it looks like she is taking steps in that direction. Plans for the new London Subway call for hundreds of miles of tunnels under the city — tunnels large enough and deep enough to provide safety in an atomic attack for the approximately 10 million persons living in or near London. Most of the present air raid shelters would be useless in a future war. Since almost one quarter of the British people are located in the London area, the new subway, when completed, would go a long way toward solving the air raid shelter problem of the country. Let's hope, however, that it will never have to be used for that purpose.

The shy wood ibis of the southern coast of the United States, a distant relative of the European stork, is the only member of the stork family in this country.

FROM ADAM TO ATOM

Man has come a long way from the Age of the Ape. Or Adam. He has just graduated from the Automobile to the Aeroplane Age. Now, with scarcely time for thought, he finds himself head-on in the Atomic Age. With scarcely time for thought, and yet he must think. For there remains no choice for the next Age of Man, as we know him. He must attain the Age of Accord. Or doom himself to no Age at all—Annihilation.

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

Approves

1200-MILE GAS PIPELINE

ASSURES ADDITIONAL GAS SUPPLY
FOR GROWING SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

On May 31, the Federal Power Commission approved construction of a Texas-California pipeline project to be completed at a cost of more than $70,000,000. Based on applications of Southern California and Southern Counties Gas Companies and El Paso Natural Gas Company, the project is to augment California's natural gas supply from the extensive reserves in Texas and New Mexico. To be completed for the Winter of 1947-48.

You and your 3,500,000 neighbors enjoy living standards set by Southern California's fabulous Horn of Plenty... a wealth of natural resources, a climate that is unsurpassed, a fuller, better way of life.

But as we grow, the demands on our resources are increasing steadily, and maintaining these standards is a challenge... The continuance of a plentiful supply of natural gas, for example, is vital for our millions of homes and future development. The energy that natural gas already delivers to Southern California is tremendous; and our postwar building program has yet to start!

Future Supply

Southern California has met the challenge of the future with vision and daring enterprise:

Construction of a spectacular 1200-mile pipeline to transport a continuing supply of natural gas from the Mid-Continent Fields in Texas has now been fully approved by the California Railroad Commission and the Federal Power Commission. California gas companies will construct the portion of the line from the California border westwards, and the El Paso Natural Gas Company, which will supply the gas, will build the balance of the line.

Southern California is indeed fortunate in being able to tap the abundant reserves of the Mid-Continent Fields. The new project will put to use a large volume of gas now being wasted for lack of a market... and still greater reserves are available for future needs!

Big Project

This 1200-mile pipeline, crossing the Continental Divide, is to be one of Southern California's great engineering undertakings. It is the largest, long-distance gas transmission line ever built, with a pipeline measuring up to 30 inches in diameter!

The natural gas it is to transport would care for every home in the four metropolitan cities of Akron, San Antonio, Des Moines and Indianapolis combined. At its ultimate capacity, it will deliver the equivalent energy daily of 47,000 barrels of oil... or 189 carloads of coal... or three times the electrical energy produced by Boulder Dam.

Work Started

Preliminary work is under way: orders for the 258,000 tons of pipe have been placed; a survey of the 1200-mile route has nearly been completed.

Actual construction will provide more than 4,000,000 man-hours of work. It starts early this Fall and will be ready for the Winter of 1947-48.

The approval of this project, so vital to Southern California's future development, is a gratification we believe every home owner can share.

AROUND AND ABOUT

By EDWARD LLOYD VOORHIES

CENTRAL ENGLAND—Kenilworth

Castle and its chequered fate.

After viewing the baronial splendors of Warwick Castle, we drove out again through the long, deep arc of the causeway into the village street which extended along one side of the castle grounds. The fourth house down this street was a modest, two-story structure of square-cut stone, somewhat newer in appearance than its neighbors. This, our guide informed us, was the present residence of the Earl and Countess of Warwick. The castle itself was now tenanted, he said, by "a Chicago millionaire", a Mr. Marshall and his wife, who had rented it for the past thirteen years, and who received the two shillings admission fee which every sightseer paid, a large number each day during the tourist season, as a small part of the expense of keeping up the castle and grounds, including the wages of probably a hundred or more workers.

This was another of the increasing instances of the New World moving in upon the Old because of the high taxes levied to pay for World War I in England, and this method of preserving the great landmarks of feudal days on the basis of ability to pay illustrates again the adaptability to circumstances of the British people of all classes. A people who have now set about immediately to solve their housing problem—where one out of every three houses has been either destroyed or damaged by air raids—helping to solve it by building whole sections of neat and comfortable-looking cottages from the aluminum of surplus aeroplanes, as the English are doing today, such a people have something for our famed Yankee ingenuity to think over, and possibly emulate! As for the owners of Warwick castle, about a year ago I read a small, obscure item in an American newspaper to the effect that the young Earl of Warwick, under an assumed name which I shall not divulge, since he himself apparently did not wish to trade upon his illustrious title, was playing minor ("bit") roles in Hollywood pictures, like many another ambitious beginner. More power to him!

After a spot of excellent tea and buttered bread—good homemade bread—with raspberry jam, at dear old Mrs. Carr's cozy and hospitable teashop, our party was off again down the Warwickshire road in our char-a-banc to visit Kenilworth Castle, another ancient landmark in the midst of modern life. I shall not forget the loveliness of that drive, the roadway bordered by fresh green fields and well-stocked pastures where cattle and sheep cropped the fragrant grass between the huge old oaks, elms, and sycamores or lay in their sharp cool shade in the mid-afternoon of dazzling sunshine. It was one of those rarely perfect days—of which I saw more than I had a right to expect during my brief July sojourn in England. Soon we drew off the main road and suddenly came upon what is left of Kenilworth Castle, nothing like the great, well-preserved pile of Warwick, but a vast ruin, honeycombed by time, rising story upon story, shrouded by great gaping doors and windows full of dark shadows or silhouetted against the empty blue of the sky, the crumbling masonry of its walls and towers covered with great con- tinents of ivy, and supporting thickets of tenacious shrubbery and even trees in its crannies.

On or near this site stood a royal residence in the days of the Saxons, which was destroyed in the wars between the Saxon King Edward the Confessor and that Danish King Canute, conqueror and later king of England, who once commanded the tide to recede from Westminster on the Thames. The nucleus of the castle proper was built just after the Norman conquest, by the Norman Geoffrey de Clinton around 1100 then enlarged by sturdy old John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster—descendant of four kings and father of Henry IV—who about 1390 built the great banquet hall, two of whose tall mullioned window frames still pierce one standing wall, and the whole was completed and restored under Robert Dudley, afterward Earl of Leicester, favorite of Queen Elizabeth, to whom she gave the estate in 1562. The great castle with its enclosing walls now encircled about seven acres, and around it lay a meadow of another seven acres. This meadow Dudley flooded and covered with gaily caparisoned ships for that splendid sea-pageant of mythology which was prepared for the visit of the Queen that merry week in July 1575. Of that fantastically extravagant houseparty and the part played in it by intriguing nobles and by the ill-fated Amy Robsart, who was unknown to the love-bemused Queen, was already secretly married to Dudley, are so vividly recounted in Scott's "Kenilworth" as to make it all seem something realistically beautiful and terrible which happened only yesterday.

The great castle was dismantled and practically destroyed less than a century later in the civil wars by the soldiers of Cromwell, who quite understandably left their destructive and disfiguring marks all over England and Ireland upon so many objects of beauty, which to them were symbols of the Devil's prosperity. But Kenilworth is majestic even in its ruins, evocative of past pomp and circumstance, and of the power, caprice, and indomitable will of England's great Queen. Some historians question that Elizabeth was in love with Leicester, but all agree that she had a certain weakness where tall, handsome, talented and noble young men were concerned, and Robert Dudley was all of these. Upon his death in 1588, the frugal Queen took back Kenilworth into the Crown possessions; but the Earl's son, Robert, inherited not only all his father's considerable property but also from a kinsman, Ambrose Dudley, all the latter's property and the Earldom of Warwick. Thus Robert Dudley the younger became the owner of the longer-lived Warwick Castle only a few miles from Kenilworth. Truly, as Scripture tells us, "To him that hath shall be given."

Mutual of Pasadena Pays 43rd Dividend

In announcing the 43rd semi-annual dividend payment of Mutual Building and Loan Association of Pasadena, R. W. Caspers reports the organization has reached an all time high both in the number and dollar volume of loans made and funds placed in savings accounts.

"We are enjoying the most active period of our history," Mr. Caspers said, "and this prosperity is reflected in dividends we are paying to our more than 3,600 investors."

Mutual's home loan record is equally notable. January 1st showed 1,853 loans on its books, totaling $6,755,424. During the six months just ended 676 loans amounting to $2,171,000 have been made.

"This splendid condition," continued Mr. Caspers, "is due in large part to the sound judgment of Mutual's loan staff with its broad knowledge of Pasadena and Glendale real estate. The increased prosperity of the area has also contributed greatly to our growth."

FIRE FLAMES

The Fourth of July and the Sierra Madre News come out on the same day. We cannot therefore report the goings on at the Fireman's Annual Picnic. We can foretell that some of the boys and girls will gather early and begin getting things in readiness for those who come later. We can see Joe Grippi at the fire station early, shining up the new fire truck so that when he drives it to the picnic grounds it will attract admiration from our friends along the way. We can already see Harold Spears with his hammer and saw, fabricating the necessary reading rooms. Vern Udell and his loyal crew will make certain that tables and seats are supplied. Joe Swanson and Bob Orme, with the able assistance of the Orme ladies, will work hard to have much flavor to the "eats". If past taste is any criterion, we will look forward to a very savory feed. We of the fire department are grateful to Bob Orme and his ladies for their loyal support in making this annual affair a great success. We realize that the long tedious job of preparing the food is NOT a picnic. The Bill Estes of the Sierra Madre Ice Company will furnish ice for the cooling-off department and if all goes well, we should have plenty to cool off. Estes will appear on the grounds early. At the McDonald Farm, the location, "Mac" has been working for days to have in readiness a place to keep the "seven-fifty" club out of the sun. He hopes that he will have little difficulty in keeping the boys amused with optimism. They always have a chance if they stay long enough. He also has prepared a cooling-off section for his boys. It is expected that the large majority of the firemen will attend. A few have been absent from the city, due to vacation. Joe Grippi will be in readiness if a fire alarm should happen to come in while we are at the picnic. He will have the truck situated so that it will be no difficulty in heading it in any direction. We sincerely wish for a quiet Fourth without fire mishap. To have such a holiday, it will be important that parents abide by the regulations and forbid the children the use of fireworks.

Fireworks in the form of dangerous explosives to be handled by children is as out of date as the prosecution of witches. Many parents will not agree that fireworks create a hazard, but if they will but remember reading in the morning newspaper following every Fourth of July the results of fire and injury caused by fireworks, they will realize the why of our urgent plea to discontinue the use. Most of us must have things brought close to home before we can see anything but our own personal viewpoint. If we must wait until one of our own children comes home with an injured finger before using precaution, then we are not abiding by progress. Many of us delight in telling our boys of the time we went to the top of the hill the night before the Fourth. (way back in the nineties) with a stuffed gas pipe filled and tamped with black powder and a fuse attached to be lit at the break of day. And what glee we got out of telling him that when that thing-a-mabob was set off by a match, the air was filled with shrapnel.

enough to kill an army, and not a one of us got hit. Well, (as we laugh at the thought) you can see for yourself, we might have had a guardian angel, but when John Ekas, a close boy friend, held a firecracker too long and lockjaw developed, the guardian angel was lookin' out the window. John Ekas died. It was a long time after that before our parents would permit us to use fireworks. But they soon forgot and as long as the stuff is manufactured, it has been used and each Fourth of July we have a list of casualties and bad fires. WHY NOT LET THE EXPERTS USE THE FIREWORKS AND KEEP THE ACCIDENTS AND FIRES OUT.

The Greeks were the first people to use bedsprings. They made them of braided leather thongs hung between heavy boards at the sides of the bed.
